That is, you are trying to pick up a little flesh, to regain some of your wasted color, to excite your stomach to more solid nutriment than its recently debilitated condition permitted you to take. How can you accelerate your small pace healthward? We are warranted by our constant testimony in affirming that if you will use twice or three a day Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, an established medicine of long-ascertained purity and tonic virtues, that you will be materially aided. It promotes the flow of the gastric juices and helps the system to assimilate the nutriment of the food it stands to assist in assimilating. It remedies a tendency to constipation without causing the bowels. The liver is stimulated to renewed activity, safety promotes the action of the kidneys and bladder, it stimulates malaria and rheumatism at the outset.

M'NALLEY'S TROUBLE.

CHARGED WITH ROBBERY HIS ROOM-MATE OF SEVENTY DOLLARS.

William Patton Awaits to Find His Bed-Fellow and Money Both Gone—Other Cases.

Robert McAlley, a well-dressed, neat-looking young man, apparently not more than twenty-six or twenty-eight years old, was before the Police Court yesterday morning to answer the very grave charge of feloniously stealing $70 from William Patton. Hon. Samuel B. Witt appeared as counsel for the accused and an examination was entered into, but before Officer Talley, who made the arrest and was the first witness, concluded his testimony, Judge Witt said he was satisfied that the case would be sent on, and therefore he would not trouble the Court with a further investigation. McAlley was put back into the prisoners' pen to be sent to jail and Patton was held as a witness in the sum of $300, and having no one to go on his bond he, too, had to go to prison, and the chances are that both the plaintiff and the defendant will have to swell in the city jail until the September term of the Hustings Court, when the case comes up for trial.

POLICEMAN TALLEY.

Policeman Talley said he was at the American Hotel yesterday morning, awaiting a Dispatch reporter said: "I arrived in the city late Thursday afternoon, from Petersburg, and intended going on to Baltimore on the late train that night, but afterward learned that there was no such train. While I was in a room, where I had gotten something to drink, McAlley, who was a pleasant stranger to me, came in. I was singing, and he seemed to recognize my voice, and, coming up to me, asked me if I did not sing in Bartlett's quartette in Baltimore. I told him that I did. At my invitation we took something to drink, and, finding McAlley a pleasant and agreeable, and being pleased to meet some one from Baltimore who knew some of my friends, I invited him to take a walk with me. After walking around for awhile and talking together, I said to him that I could not leave that night and invited him to go to a hotel with me to spend the night. When I awoke this morning McAlley had left the room, and upon looking into my pockets I found that my money was all missing. I went down to the office and the clerk told me that McAlley had gone out some hours before. I saw a police officer and reported these facts to him, and he soon found the prisoner, who when brought up to where I was said that he had only taken the money to keep me from losing it, and that he intended to come back to the hotel and return it. The man is an utter stranger to me, and I did not know whether he really meant to steal my money or to bring it back to me."

PERSONAL.

Patton, whose appearance indicated that he had been on a spree, said he was in the disposition of the police officer to go to the city jail, and he would be some time before he got out.

McAlley, it is said, came here from Baltimore some time ago and has been employed by Mr. Witt since he came in his saloon at the New River.

FROM THE CLERK'S RECORD.

The following were among the other cases tried in this court yesterday morning:

Andrew Giovanni, assaulting and beating Maria Rivers. Fined $10 and costs.

April Robinson, French Howard, Buck Johnson, George E. Anderson, Cooper, and Norcor George (all colored) were fined $2.50 and costs each for trespassing upon the premises of the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad and being disorderly, to the annoyance of the passengers.

Martha Ann Reed (colored), assaulting, cursing, and abusing Willie Allen. Fined $5 and costs.

Robert Anderson and Marshall Taylor, two colored boys, charged with stealing a grate, were whipped in court by their parents.

FRESH MEAT IN RICHMOND.

Armour's House Here to Be Opened About October 1st.

As announced in the Dispatch some time ago, P. D. Armour & Co., the great pork-packers of Chicago, will soon open a branch fresh-meat house in Richmond. They have leased the large brick building at the corner of Grace and Union streets and are having it fitted up and improved. They expect to have it completed by October 1st, and ready to commence business here at that time.

Mr. E. T. Ford is superintending the work upon the building, and has had a force of men at work for some time. Mr. J. W. Mayer, the chief architect for Armour & Co., was in the city on Thursday, and expressed himself as much pleased with the building.

This concern, who are the largest and wealthiest pork-packers in the world, have branch houses in nearly every city in the United States, and are well known.

The pork and beef to be sold in Richmond will be killed in Chicago and placed in refrigerators and shipped here and then placed in the elegant refrigerator being constructed for that purpose. The temperature of this refrigerator, like that of the refrigerators, will be kept at 35°. The building to be used by them is 41x71 feet and four stories high, including the basement.

Messrs. Armour & Co. have not yet appointed a manager for their business in this city, but it is expected that an appointment will be made in a few days.

Mr. Swift, who is also a large pork-packer in Chicago, is having the building formerly occupied by W. H. Briggs & Brother, commission merchants, near the Chesapeake and Ohio depot, fitted up and will soon open a branch house here.

Death of Mr. John C. Sinton.

Mr. John C. Sinton, an obituary notice is published in another column of this paper, was the eldest son of Mr. William Sinton, who was well known to many of the older residents of this city—first as teller in the old United States Branch bank here and subsequently as bookkeeper for Philip Haxall & Sons.

Mr. Sinton was a native of New York, and was educated at the University of the City of New York. He was a member of the New York State Bar, and was admitted to practice in 1855.

SANITARY MATTERS.

MEETING LAST NIGHT OF THE COMMITTEE ON HEALTH.

An Hour's Session, Much Talk About Garbage and Dead Horses, and Very Little Done.

The Council Committee on Health met in the office of Board of Health yesterday evening at 6:45 o'clock. Present: Messrs. Christian (chairman), Snead, Taylor, and Dr. Oppenheimer, president of the board.

Dr. Oppenheimer said that numerous complaints had been made to him against Mr. William T. Smoot, the contractor for removing garbage. The carts, he said, should go around several days of each week and remove the garbage, and he had been told that it was sometimes allowed to remain in the alleys several days, and often it becomes very obnoxious to the residents of the neighborhood.

Mr. Smoot explained, who was present, said that they were running nine teams daily, and that just at this season of the year they were generally busy; that the garbage was generally carried about three miles from the city, but that when they were not so busy they dumped it out at Mr. Sheppard's farm about one mile from the corporation.

He said that the drivers in many instances had to enter the back gates of premises and look for the garbage, and that they were not so much acquainted with the routes and that they occasionally overlooked places that they should have attended to.

Policeman James said complaints had been frequently made to him that the carts did not come regularly; also, that they would not wait long enough for the garbage to be handed out; that he thought Mr. Smoot did not have force enough employed for this season. He said further that the drivers were reported impudent in some instances, that they were often called back to wait for stuff to be brought out and if they refused to wait complaint was made.

Mr. Christian said he came down the street Thursday morning and found a great many carts of garbage setting out, and that he thought these barrels should be put in the alleys instead of on the sidewalk.

Mr. Taylor thought the carts should go around every day.

The committee not finding any reasonable charge against Mr. Smoot, the matter was dropped.

Mr. Dwyer, who pays for the privilege of removing the dead horses from the city, was before the committee.

Dr. Oppenheimer said that there had been some complaint that Mr. Dwyer had been throwing old meat in the creek instead of burying it, and that the matter was being investigated.

Mr. Dwyer said he buried all of the horses, but that the committee could not expect Horse-Heaven to be a flower-garden. He said he worked all day and did his best to keep the place in good order, but that the rain would wash the bodies down the creek.

Mr. R. P. Blackburn was called upon to testify. He said that he lived some distance from the place, but that the odor was sometimes very perceptible and offensive where he lived.

Mr. Christian asked Mr. Dwyer how many dead horses he averaged per month. The answer was about one every day.

On motion of Mr. Snead the matter was referred to the chairman of the committee.

Mr. Dwyer said that he would let one man attend to the business after the 15th of next month; that he paid the city for the privilege, but that he ought to be paid.

The weekly pay-roll, amounting to $109.25, was ordered to be paid, and the chairman authorized to sign warrants for the same.

On motion of Mr. Taylor, Mr. Andrew Button was returned to the street department, and Mr. Joseph J. Chadwick elected custodian of the city stables.

STREET-SWEEPING. Mr. Christian said he did not see the use of a horse for the board, and he thought the city should have another team and run the street-sweeping by night. He thought the horse used by the president of the board might be used and the city would only have one to buy.

The committee took no action.

Mr. Larkin appeared before the committee and said that one of the brooms belonging to the new street-sweeper was in very bad condition, and that the committee should investigate the matter. Referred to the chairman.

Mr. Larkin said that Mr. Foster, one of the hands lately in his department, had left him. Holly Hill was nominated and elected to fill the vacancy.

Adjourned at 7:45.

Pic-Nic at Oak Lawn. The festivities incident to the grand picnic given by Mr. George E. Crawford, at Oak Lawn, in Hanover county, commencing at 9 o'clock Thursday morning, were kept up until 1 A. M. yesterday.

A special train went up from this city, leaving here at 9 A. M. Thursday. A great many States were represented in the large crowd who were gathered upon the grounds.

Virginia and adopted the Virginia flag, and a large number of hands to make the occasion a success. While there were so many people gathered together, representing every political party, yet harmony reigned instead of dissension.

A number of crowd during the day were several particularly noticeable persons on account of the interest they were taking in the work. They were Messrs. Silas W. Wright, of Michigan; N. W. Walsh, of New Jersey; Charles Goodwin, of Brooklyn; and Gilbert Banker, of New York, though the latter has lived here so long that he is thoroughly identified with Virginia. Mr. Bradford said of such men Virginia can't have too many, and it gives him pleasure to have the honor of locating him. The photographer, choosing to be in the center of the group, selected a beautiful field of corn that was twice as high as the tallest person. This was done to illustrate to the friends of those present that they are living in a State in which corn will grow as well as in the States that they have left.

Last but not least were the old-time colored people, who conducted the old-time barbecue, and cooked the meat so temptingly that a hog weighing 150 pounds or more was eaten in a short time.

The Death of "Guep." Many friends of Major James H. Dooley have concluded with him since his return from California over the death of his faithful friend and companion "Guep." This magnificent mastiff was probably one of the largest dogs ever seen in Richmond. He had a pedigree, the length of which would be the envy of any P. F. V. Extending back to the fifteenth century, to a stirring ancestor of King Richard III., some of his ancestry probably were among the dogs that barked at the Royal Hunchback "as he hailed by them." "Guep," however, was a true American, though of English descent, having been born at the foot of the White Mountains, his dam

A BAD WRECK.

ANOTHER COLLISION ON THE NORFOLK AND WESTERN RAIL.

Cars Smashed Up and Cattle Killed—A Boy Supposed to Be Killed—Crops.

[Special telegram to the Dispatch.] Lynchburg, Va., August 17.—At an early hour this morning there was an accident on the Norfolk and Western railroad, one and a half miles west of Forest Depot, the particulars of which are about as follows: Two freight trains eastward-bound were running near together, when the foremost one broke loose at the Forest depot and ran back on the other train, the locomotive Dodson was conductor, and completely wrecked the engine and eleven cars. One of the cars was loaded with sheep belonging to Mr. Hartman, of Washington county, and three cars were loaded with cattle, two of which were killed. The sheep were badly torn up and bruised and a number killed.

George A. Hudson, of Amherst, was on one of the trains and was badly shaken up and bruised, but no bones were broken.

A colored boy, whose name I did not learn, was asleep in the caboose which struck the engine and is probably killed, as the caboose was literally torn to pieces.

The engineer jumped from his train before the collision occurred and was considerably bruised.

The arrival of the mail train was most opportune, as it enabled the engineer to extricate the wrecked cars from the engine in time to prevent them being set on fire.

As soon as the accident was made known here a wrecking train was sent to the scene, and it was several hours before the road facts were known. A telegraph pole having been knocked down in the wreck it was nearly 10 o'clock before the communication was re-established.

I understand that Mr. Hartman, owner of the sheep, turned them over to the railroad authorities with the information that he had no further use for them in their disabled condition.

It is impossible to estimate the amount of the loss to the company, but it must be very considerable. The railroad will not allow their wires to be used and will tell nothing.

Parties just from North Bedford report the growing crops of corn and tobacco very fine. Fine rains visited the country recently, and farmers are very happy over the prospect.

Every cell in Amherst county jail is full, and in one five women are confined for fighting.

It is proposed to have a large creamery at Amherst Courthouse. It is estimated that between two and three hundred canneries are in operation in Southwest Virginia at this time.

Forty ear-loaders of wheat passed through Roanoke Wednesday en route for Liverpool from the West. Shipments of canned corn and sweet corn to New York are also very heavy.

A farmer living in Bedford county had thirteen sheep killed by lightning yesterday.

Wesley Davis (colored) was arrested in Pittsylvania county for attempting to poison the family of C. T. Davis.

CHARLOTTE'S BUDGET.

A Singular Accident—Destructive Storm, Etc. [Special telegram to the Dispatch.] Charlotte, N. C., August 17.—James Leamon, a man about twenty-one years old, died at Charlotte, N. C., yesterday, for his home in Rowan county Wednesday. Failing to arrive at the expected time his father went to search for him. It was learned that he started across the Yadkin river in a flat-boat, when a tree was blown down, falling on him in the boat, striking it, and killing him instantly. The boat was found a short distance down the stream lodged on rocks. Leamon's body was in the boat under a tree, partially covered with water. His head was crushed.

News has reached here to the effect that Frank M. Love, who three years ago moved from Shelby to Texas, had been killed by desperadoes there. He engaged in a quarrel at a voting precinct with two desperate characters and was fatally wounded in the woods, where his throat was cut from ear to ear. His body was not found until next day. The murderers escaped.

The big Republican pow-wow in the Fifth district is interesting. A gentleman from there told me to-day that the probability another candidate would be nominated for Congress, and John M. Brower, the present nominee, repudiated. It is said Brower will make a run anyway, even if another candidate is nominated. One Republican paper in the district still does his name at its masthead, refusing to take it down.

Captain Charles E. Stiles, who has figured in Gospel-Army circles in Richmond and other Virginia cities, pitched his tent in Salisbury about ten days ago, but has very suddenly disappeared. Stiles indulged in too much abuse of southern women. A number of citizens of Salisbury informed him that he would better seek other pastures, which he at once proceeded to do.

James B. Woods, a young merchant-lawyer who was arrested some time ago on the charge of forgery, has been convicted and sentenced to three years in the penitentiary. He has appeared.

A hail, rain, and wind-storm passed through Fredricks county Wednesday, unroofing trees, unroofing houses, shattering window-panes, and playing havoc with everything in its path generally. Stiles indulged in too much abuse of southern women. A number of citizens of Salisbury informed him that he would better seek other pastures, which he at once proceeded to do.

Yesterday at Danbury Spout, Taylor shot a negro twice because he refused to leave his premises when ordered. One shot took effect in the knee and the other in the finger.

Fatal Lightning in Mathews County. [Special telegram to the Dispatch.] Norfolk, Va., August 17.—A severe thunder-storm passed over Mathews county a day or two since and wrought havoc with crops and property. The killing and burning of Joseph Foster, near North River, were struck and set afire by lightning and, with their contents, totally consumed. A thunderbolt fell in a flock of sheep on the farm of Mr. Green, on Blackwater river, and killed nine of them. The dwelling of Mr. Ashby, on East river, was struck, the lightning entering through a rear window and doing considerable damage. An infant lying in a cradle beneath the window through which the lightning entered was thrown into convulsions and died the next day.

Danville's Denial. [Special telegram to the Dispatch.] Danville, Va., August 17.—At a negro camp-meeting near Kentucky, this country, John Anderson (colored), being drunk, raised a row, and when an officer attempted his arrest Anderson fought. A constable and a Sheriff, Mr. Ashby, brought him into subjection, and he was taken to jail.

A proposition in the City Council looking to the building of a new city market meets with general favor.

Rev. P. G. Lester, Democratic candidate for Congress, will spend Sunday here, and will deliver a sermon at the Methodist church on Monday.

Governor Lee yesterday directed the Secretary of the Commonwealth to issue the necessary proclamation for elections to be held at the approaching presidential election in all districts where voters are to be called upon to elect delegates. The resignation of the Hon. J. Taylor Ellison, recently elected Mayor of this city, created a vacancy in the Senate from this district. There is also a vacancy from the district composed of Caroline and Hanover counties, created by the death of General Wickham. These elections are ordered so that the expense of special elections may be avoided.

Democratic Headquarters to be Opened Monday. Mr. William Ryan, chairman of the Democratic City Central Committee, has rented the office of rooms on the second floor of No. 1112 East Main street, three doors above the Fifteenth and Twelfth streets that could scarcely get along, being lame in two legs. Two kind-hearted newspaper-men finally interceded and managed to get the horse off the street.
